

565,250

fewer lives saved

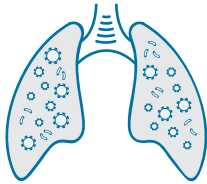

8 million

new HIV, TB and malaria infections that could have been averted

454,750

fewer people put on antiretroviral therapy

650,250

fewer people on TB treatment and care

Investing in the Global Fund sees significant returns for the U.S. and around the world. Friends of the Global Fight urges Congress to fully fund the Global Fund with an appropriation of $1.35 billion. Without it, we could see significant resurgence of disease and lost opportunities.

131,750

fewer women on treatment to prevent passing HIV to their babies

18,275

fewer people on treatment for multi-drug resistant TB

A cut of $425 million
in Global Fund support would translate to:

26 million

fewer mosquito nets distributed to protect children and families from malaria

5.1 million

fewer households receiving indoor residual spraying to protect children and families from malaria

A lost opportunity to leverage

$1.3 billion

in domestic investment toward fighting AIDS, TB and malaria

A lost opportunity to leverage

$9.4 billion

in long-term economic gains
